

Figure 4. Activation in cognitive brain regions (PFC is shown) is positively correlated with word identification in noise, providing evidence for a compensatory mechanism.