Author Index

Ducote, C. A. Speech-language pathology services for individuals with cleft lip/palate in less developed nations: The operation smile approach. October 1998. 12.
Horner, R. H., & McIntosh, K. Using single-case research designs in communication science. October 2006. 7.
Kuehn, D. P. Name change for division 5 recommended. August 1992. 5.
Kuehn, D. P. Where have all the speech scientists gone? October 1998. 5.
Kuehn, A. W. Coordinator’s column. October 2006. 1.
Lass, N. L. Speech and hearing sciences coursework at West Virginia University. July 2003. 5
Leeper, H. A. Research activities. October 1993. 3.
Leeper, H. A. Educational material for Division 5 members. October 1993. 3.
Leeper, H. A. Minutes: Division 5 business meeting. October 1993. 1.
Leeper, H. A. Speech sciences laboratory. October 1993. 5.
Leeper, H. A. Update on oral myofunctional disorders. October 1994. 3.
Leeper, H. A. Research activities dealing with the orofacial complex. October 1994. 4.
Leeper, H. A. Outcome measures: A special task for each special interest division. October 1994. 3.
Leeper, H. A. Education material for affiliates of the speech science division. October 1994. 3.
Moon, J. ASHA specialty recognition—Division 5 the ASHA specialty recognition program is here! October 1996. 16.
Orange, J. B., & Johnson, A. The bench to practice to bench cycle of evidence-based clinical practice. July 2006. 3.
Riski, J. Special topics of interest for feedback from the membership labeling and referral of resonance disorders. October 1996. 15.
Rishi, J. E. Special Interest Division 5 draft statement on hypernasality. December 1997. 3.
Ruscello, D. A summary of commercial tests and protocols for examining the speech mechanism. October 2000. 9.
Seaver, E. J. Acoustic (nasometric) assessment of the velopharyngeal system. October 1996. 10.
Seikel, J. A. Neural bases of speech and hearing. July 2003. 2
Sharp, H. M. Randomized clinical trials in speech-language pathology. October 1995. 10
Shprintzen, R. J. If you think genotype refers to a word processing program you use while wearing denims, please read on. December 1997. 14.
Shprintzen, R. J. The name game. October 1998. 7.
Shprintzen, R. J. VCFS data base established. October 1998. 11.
Subject Index

Speech

Nature of Normal Speech

Anatomy and Physiology of the Adult Speech and Swallowing System

Lass, N. L. Speech and hearing sciences coursework at West Virginia University. July 2003. 5.
Wilcox, K. The role of speech and hearing sciences in a clinical world. October 2004. 3.

Speech and Voice Disorders

Articulation and Resonance Disorders

Grames, L. M. Implementing treatment recommendations: Role of the craniofacial team speech-language pathologist in working with the client’s speech-language pathologist. October 2004. 16.

Wilcox, K. The role of speech and hearing sciences in a clinical world. October 2004. 3.
Williams, W. N. Research influences on clinical work. November 1999. 16.

Zajac, D. J. Maximizing clinical acquisition and interpretation of aerodynamic and acoustic speech data in children with velopharyngeal dysfunction. October 2005. 11.

Riski, J. Special topics of interest for feedback from the membership: Labeling and referral of resonance disorders. October 1996. 15.
Riski, J. E. Special Interest Division 5 draft statement on hypernasality. December 1997. 3.
Seaver, E. J. Acoustic (nasometric) assessment of the velopharyngeal system. October 1996. 10.
Williams, W. N. Research influences on clinical work. November 1999. 16.
Zajac, D. J. Maximizing clinical acquisition and interpretation of aerodynamic and acoustic speech data in children with velopharyngeal dysfunction. October 2005. 11.

Craniofacial and Other Anomalies

Ducote, C. A. Speech-language pathology services for individuals with cleft lip/palate in less developed nations: The operation smile approach. October 1998. 12.

Horner R. H., McIntosh K., & Mirenda P. Using single-case research designs in communication science. October 2006.

Kuehn, D. P. Where have all the speech scientists gone? October 1998. 5.

Shprintzen, R. J. If you think genotype refers to a word processing program you use while wearing denims, please read on. December 1997. 14.

Shprintzen, R. J. The name game. October 1998. 7.

Shprintzen, R.J. VCFS data base established. October 1998. 11.

Zajac, D. J. Maximizing clinical acquisition and interpretation of aerodynamic and acoustic speech data in children with velopharyngeal dysfunction. October 2005. 11.

Physiologically Based Speech and Swallowing Disorders

Leeper, H. A. Update on oral myofunctional disorders. October 1994. 3.

Leeper, H. A. Research activities dealing with the orofacial complex. October 1994. 4.

Assessment and Intervention

Screening

Assessment

Acoustic Measures of Speech and Voice and Swallowing

Zajac, D. J. Maximizing clinical acquisition and interpretation of aerodynamic and acoustic speech data in children with velopharyngeal dysfunction. October 2005. 11.

Instrumentation for Diagnosis, Treatment, and Research

Zajac, D. J. Maximizing clinical acquisition and interpretation of aerodynamic and acoustic speech data in children with velopharyngeal dysfunction. October 2005. 11.

Professional and General Scientific Issues

Professional Affairs

Professional Standards and Ethics

Leeper, H. A. Minutes: Division 5 business meeting. October 1993. 1.

Moon, J. ASHA specialty recognition-Division 5 the ASHA specialty recognition program is here! October 1996. 16.

Kummer, A. W. Coordinator’s column. October 2006. 1.

Orange, J. B., & Johnson, A. The bench to practice to bench cycle of evidence-based clinical practice. July 2006. 3.

Riski, J. E. Coordinator’s corner. October 2000. 1.

Ruscillo, D. A summary of commercial tests and protocols for examining the speech mechanism. October 2000. 9.

Governmental and Professional Regulations

Wilcox, K. The role of speech and hearing sciences in a clinical world. October 2004. 3.

Service Provision Models and Problems

Research Issues and Methodology

Leeper, H. A. Research activities. October 1993. 3.

Leeper, H. A. Speech sciences laboratory. October 1993. 5.

Leeper, H. A. Outcome measures: A special task for each special interest division. October 1994. 3.

Interdisciplinary Concerns

Kuehn, D. P. Name change for Division 5 recommended. August 1992. 5.
Professional Training

Education and Continuing Education

Leeper, H. A. Educational material for Division 5 members. October 1993. 3.

Leeper, H. A. Education material for affiliates of the speech science division. October 1994. 3.

Orange, J. B., & Johnson, A. The bench to practice to bench cycle of evidence-based clinical practice. July 2006. 3.

Wilcox, K. The role of speech and hearing sciences in a clinical world. October 2004. 3.

Title Index

Acoustic (nasometric) assessment of the velopharyngeal system. Seaver, E. J. October 1996. 10.

ASHA specialty recognition-Division 5 the ASHA specialty recognition program is here! Moon, J. October 1996. 16.

Coordinator’s column, Kummer, A. W. July 2003. 1.

Coordinator’s column, Kummer, A. W. October 2003. 1.

Coordinator’s column, Kummer, A. W. July 2004. 1.

Coordinator’s column, Kummer, A. W. October 2004. 1.

Coordinator’s column, Kummer, A. W. July 2005. 1.

Coordinator’s column, Kummer, A. W. October 2005. 1.

Coordinator’s column. Riski, J. E. August 2000. 1.

Coordinator’s corner. Riski, J. E. August 2000. 1.

Education material for affiliates of the speech science division. Leeper, H. A. October 1994. 3.
Educational material being developed by Acoustical Society of America. Leeper, H. A. October 1993. 4.

Educational material for Division 5 members. Leeper, H. A. October 1993. 3.

If you think genotype refers to a word processing program you use while wearing denims, please read on. Shprintzen, R. J. December 1997. 14.

Name change for Division 5 recommended. Kuehn, D. P. August 1992. 5.

The name game. Shprintzen, R. J. October 1998. 7.

Outcome measures: A special task for each special interest division. Leeper, H. A. October 1994. 3.

Perspectives on normal speech breathing. Hixon, T. J. July 2006. 15.

Research activities dealing with the orofacial complex. Leeper, H. A. October 1994. 4.

Research influences on clinical work. Williams, W. N. November 1999. 16.

The role of speech and hearing sciences in a clinical world. Wilcox, K. October 2004. 3.

Special topics of interest for feedback from the membership labeling and referral of resonance disorders. Riski, J. October 1996. 15.

Speech and hearing sciences coursework at West Virginia University. Lass, N. J. July 2003. 5.

Speech motor control and predicting disordered speech. Leeper, H. A. November 1999. 3.

Speech sciences laboratory. Leeper, H. A. October 1993. 5.

A summary of commercial tests and protocols for examining the speech mechanism. Ruscello, D. October 2000. 9.

 The bench to practice to bench cycle of evidence-based clinical practice. Orange, J. B. & Johnson, A. July 2006. 3

Update on oral myofunctional disorders. Leeper, H. A. October 1994. 3.

VCFS data base established. Shprintzen, R. J. October 1998. 11.

Where have all the speech scientists gone? Kuehn, D. P. October 1998. 5.